ONE OF A KIND

Apart from its deadly suckers, what else have we heard about this mythical creature? The kraken can make strong waves!

Most large ships can't swim in a whirlpool.

Some legends say the kraken can cause whirlpools. When diving into the ocean, this beast does not swim down calmly. It creates whirlpools powerful enough to pull ships under.

WHOSE POO WAS IT?

It was the rhinoceros's POO!

Rhinoceroses eat plants. The seeds from these plants come out in their poo and eventually begin to grow. So, rhinos help plants spread when they poo.

Rhinos use their poo to communicate, too. Many rhinos drop their poo in the same spot. The different smells in all this poo tells rhinos about one another.

SHREY: I think my friend Barry was here!

Rhinos use all the eggs and seeds of many plants by walking in poo.
