A Soldier in the White House

Andrew Jackson did anything he could to help his country. As a boy, he helped American soldiers who fought for freedom. When he grew up, Jackson became a great military leader. Then he became a great president.

Jackson helped win an important battle in New Orleans, Louisiana, in 1815.

Andrew Jackson was the seventh president. He served from 1829 to 1837.

A Rough Start

Andrew Jackson was born in 1767. He lived on the border between North and South Carolina. Andrew's father died before he was born. The Jacksons were very poor. Andrew worked hard on his family's farm.

When Andrew was born, the United States did not exist. Instead, there were 13 colonies controlled by Great Britain. North Carolina and South Carolina were two of the colonies.

Andrew's family lived in a cabin like this one.
