

I SPY

At the PARK

by Spencer Brinker

[Intentionally Left Blank]

At the PARK

by Spencer Brinker

Consultant:
Beth Gambro
Reading Specialist
Yorkville, Illinois

Contents

At the Park	2
Key Words	16
Index.....	16
About the Author	16

BEARPORT PUBLISHING

New York, New York

At the Park

A photograph of a park scene. In the foreground, a wide, light-colored gravel path curves from the bottom right towards the center. To the left of the path is a lush green lawn. In the background, there are several trees with yellow and orange autumn leaves. A wooden bench is visible on a path in the distance. The sky is blue with some light clouds.

Where am I?
I am at the park!

What do I spy?

I spy a tree.

It is tall.

I spy a dog.

It is big.
Woof!